

Observer Sees Possibility Of Solving Indian Disturbance

Editor's note: With this article, DeWitt MacKenzie, war analyst, concludes his interesting series on the Indian situation, which he studied at first hand on his long tour of war zones.)

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

We come to the end of this series of articles on the dangerous Indian political crisis—a situation which has overrun its natural boundaries and has become a threat to the war effort and post-war interests of the United Nations.

Perforce it's in some ways an unsatisfactory termination. It leaves us without any concerted move, at least any evident action, to break the deadlock between the British government and the Indian nationalists.

Still, the position is far from hopeless. As I've tried to make clear, I found a widespread belief in both camps that the quarrel is susceptible to settlement. That also represents my personal belief.

Must Forget Pride
Now, mind you, I'm not predicting that it will be settled. The first requisite for solution is for somebody to forget face-saving pride and make a move which will permit the case to be reopened. The second requisite is speed, for there are dangerous tendencies afoot.

Fortune has chosen to smile on reconciliation by bringing Mahatma Gandhi through his hunger-strike. Had this most powerful individual in all India died in internment, under circumstances which his worshipful followers would have called martyrdom, it might have lighted a conflagration which would have swept far.

Well, which of the belligerents is going to make the first move?

It's going a long way to expect any third party to intervene—at least officially—in what started out to be a family quarrel. I have in mind, of course, that many Indians have been anxious to secure intervention by President Roosevelt.

Arbitrary Methods
Here I must repeat what I have stated in previous articles. The consensus as I found it among impartial observers was that success probably could be achieved if the government would adopt arbitrary methods and set up a provisional national government in which the Indian factions would be invited to participate as a patriotic move in the interests of an Allied victory.

Here in substance is the project: The British authorities would, without reference to anybody, announce the inauguration of the provisional national government. All the leaders of the Indian parties, and the princes of the Indian states, would be invited to participate.

Sovereign Government
It would be announced that this provisional government would be developed as fast as possible into the sovereign government which the Indians have been promised. However, the leaders would be asked to make the initial business a whole-hearted cooperation in the war effort, and let the constitution and permanent government follow.

Revise Boundaries
Some form of federal government would be aimed at, in order that there might be a unified India which would include both the provinces and the states ruled by the princes. This would eliminate any such project as the Moslem demand for Pakistan—the division of India into two wholly independent states, one Moslem and the other Hindu.

There undoubtedly would have to (Please Turn to Page 2)

FARM BUREAU SALES TOTAL $161,000 IN '42

Adding 87 new patrons during 1942, the Adams County Farm Bureau Cooperative association reported total sales of over $161,000 during 1942, a 53 per cent increase over the 1941 figures and a record in the nine years the cooperative has been operating here.

Those facts and others indicating the prosperity and growth of the county's biggest farm cooperative were brought out in the annual report of G. Marion Stambaugh, association manager, which featured the ninth membership meeting Wednesday at the Gettysburg high school building.

Common stockholders in the Cooperative now number 586, Stambaugh reported, and they own $17,450 in common stock in the association. A four per cent common stock dividend was declared during the last year. The organization lists total assets of $56,723.

Service Branch
The manager also reported upon the purchase last November of a mill property and equipment at New Oxford and of its opening as the county association's first service branch.

Mr. Stambaugh gave statistics on 1942 sales in all departments. The Cooperative handled 1,750 tons of mixed feeds last year, 852 tons of fertilizer, 1,500 bushels of seeds, $4,000 worth of spraying and dusting materials. The mill at the Farm Bureau building ground and mixed 700 tons of feeds last year—a 220 per cent increase over 1941. Summing up his review of the financial condition of the organization, Mr. Stambaugh stated: "For each dollar the association owes it has $2.05 to back it up."

Urges Early Ordering
He reported on prospects for spring business and on current and expected supplies of seeds, feeds, fertilizers and other supplies. He urged farmers to order promptly to cover all their spring needs.

The cooperative members received from J. B. Collins, county manager of Farm Bureau Insurance, an annual report showing that organization has 4,000 "coverages" under 2,500 policies now in force in this county. Adams county's branch of the company claims the record of having the highest percentage of cars insured in any county in any state served by the Farm Bureau company. Collins said his company has $341,000 of life insurance in force in this county and a quarter of a million dollars in fire insurance. Reporting on general liability insurance, Collins said that during the last year—the first in which this type of insurance was handled here—premiums totaling about $2,000 were written.

250 Are Present
H. S. Agster, general manager for the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau Cooperative association at Harrisburg, addressed the afternoon session. He discussed the growing importance of cooperative enterprises in this country and in many other parts of the world and made this observation: "Cooperatives will play a big part in the economic reconstruction period that will follow the war."

More than 250 county farmers and their wives attended the meeting which was described as one of the most successful in the history of the organization.

Solicitors Near Close Of House-To-House Canvass For $18,700

Mounting reports from local solicitors sent the War Fund total in the Red Cross drive to $1,982.46 by noon today, a $600 jump from noon on Wednesday.

With a tenth of the $18,700 quota already on hand, volunteers in all sections of the county were drawing near the end of their house-to-house canvasses in the territories assigned to them.

The biggest boost to the total this morning came with a report of $323 from the group of seminarians who handled the western section of the second ward.

The steady flow of contributions gave testimony to the willingness of countians to lend their support to the great cause of the Red Cross. Henry M. Scharf, War Fund drive chairman, said today as new indications of the appreciation of the soldiers for the Red Cross services rendered them unfolded here.

Mrs. Roy E. Zinn, Hanover street, whose son, Sgt. Merville Zinn, wrote for the first time in three weeks displayed this letter today because of its reference to the Red Cross.

Sgt. Zinn wrote in part: "After nearly three weeks I can begin writing again. I am sitting on the floor at the back end of the ship."

"The paper I am using is a gift from the Red Cross. I got a bag from them with cigarettes, soap, razor blades, pencil, paper, envelopes, a book to read, a note book and a lovely sewing kit. I used my sewing kit to sew my insignias on all my clothes."

Additional Donors
"They made the trip very comfortable for us. There were thousands of books brought aboard at the last minute and magazines of all kinds. The time has gone so fast it seems only yesterday we left N. Y. They tell me we can say where we are but not the exact place—so I am in North Africa."

The Red Cross office today listed these additional donors in the War Fund campaign:

Pennsylvania Catholic Beneficial League of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church, $15; Mask and Wig club of Gettysburg high school, $5; Benderville Lutheran church, $36.16; Ladies' Guild of the Reformed church at Gettysburg, $5; Sheriff and Mrs. Daniel J. Wolff, $15; Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Johnson, $25; Emma K. and L. Blanche Benner, $10; E. V. Bullett, Esq., $15.

AIR RAID TEST TONIGHT; FOUR "INCIDENTS"

Four "incidents" will be staged in Gettysburg during the blackout test this evening, Chairman Leroy Winebrenner disclosed today.

Members of the borough defense council staff will place four flares representing "bombs" at various places in town with a poster nearby stating briefly what has happened at the spot and what the situation is as the warden arrives on the scene.

Every branch of the Civilian Defense organization will be called into action to solve the problems. Air raid wardens, firemen, members of the medical staff and police will be involved. Referees will be on the scene to observe the efficiency with which the C-D workers carry on. The cooperation of the public is asked by the Civilian Defense corps in completing the solutions of some of the problems which may be involved.

Meet Friday Evening
Results of the test will be reviewed at the March meeting of the local Council of Defense Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the American Legion building.

The blackout test tonight begins at 8:50 o'clock and the all-clear will be at 9:30 o'clock.

All air raid wardens and auxiliary police and other members of the Civilian Defense organization in Gettysburg are asked to attend the meeting so that they may be re-registered and take new oaths of service.

That announcement was made today by Mr. Winebrenner, local council chairman, who said he is acting at the direction of the county council. The new registration and signature are required before the new official armbands can be issued.

LEAVES ESTATE TO MRS. HERSH

A will written by the late George M. Walter, Esq., found two months after his death and long after the search for such a paper had been given up, was entered to probate today at the office of Register Winfield G. Horner at the court house.

The will was found by Miss E. Ruth Hamilton, who for a number of years had been employed as Mr. Walter's secretary, in an old filing case which had been unused for years. It was written in a single paragraph and was dated August 19, 1923. Miss Hamilton was going through other old papers of that period when she made the discovery.

Mrs. Edith R. Hersh, West Middle street, is named as the sole beneficiary in the document.

Mr. Walter's real estate and personal property is estimated to be worth about $1,775. Letters of administration that had been granted previously to Miss Hamilton as administratrix in the absence of a will now have been revoked. New letters "with will annexed" have been issued by Mr. Horner to her.

Amazing Victory Achieved At Cost Of Only 4 Planes

By The Associated Press

Allied Headquarters in Australia, March 4—An entire convoy of 22 Japanese ships, including 10 cruisers or destroyers, has been virtually annihilated in the Bismarck Sea and 15,000 Japanese warriors bound for the battlefields of New Guinea have been wiped out "almost to a man" by airmen of the southwest Pacific command, an Allied communique announced proudly today.

The amazing victory, the bulletin said, was achieved at the cost of only three Allied fighters and one bomber, while 55 Japanese planes protecting the powerful armada were shot out of the fight and many others damaged. Thirty-three of the 55 listed as certainly destroyed and 22 as "probables."

Jap Schedule Shattered
In addition to the 15,000 ground troops killed or drowned in the furious Allied onslaught several thousand Japanese Naval personnel probably lost their lives, a spokesman said.

The daring and persistent two-day aerial attack—one of the great plane-versus-ship battles of the war—"completely dislocated" the Japanese campaign, the communique said. It obviously reduced the threat to Australia.

"We have achieved a victory of such completeness as to assume the proportions of a major disaster to the enemy," the communique said, and General Douglas MacArthur added that "merciful providence must have guarded us in this great victory."

Brilliant Strategy

The action was executed brilliantly under extreme weather hazards and extended from the Vitiaz Straits, between the Bismarck Archipelago and the New Guinea coast, south to Huon Gulf on which the Japanese bases of Lae and Salamaua are situated. The convoy started from Rabaul, New Britain, and originally consisted of 14 ships. Eight more vessels joined it yesterday shortly before the final, concentrated Allied attack.

The convoy was first attacked Tuesday. Yesterday, when the last of the 22 ships was turned into a burning, listing hulk, more than 100 tons of bombs had been dropped by the Allied airmen, and, as the communique said, "the entire force was practically destroyed."

Along The Red Cross War Front

The Upper Adams County Lions club is making the Red Cross War Fund campaign a club project. H. Earl Pitzer, district chairman, has given assurance that the upper-end will be canvassed with promptness and thoroughness.

Every member of "Bob" Berkeheimer's committee, which has charge of the Gettysburg business district, who has reported so far, is turning in collections that are from five to ten times more than came from the same sources in the last War Fund drive.

The student body of the seminary, under the direction of Otto Reinher, chairman of the mission committee, have made themselves responsible for canvassing the area west of the Reading railroad. Their initial report showed collections of $323.00 with much more to come.

Harvey C. Raffensperger, of Arendtsville, is one of the most loyal and consistent supporters of the Red Cross. He not only contributes to each drive but usually does it in some unusual way. This year he personally delivered a generous cash contribution at the Red Cross office saying he wanted to save the district committee the trouble of returning in the event he was absent at the time of their initial call.

Milton E. Springer night clerk and night auditor at Hotel Gettysburg, turned in a $20 contribution saying he wanted to make up his annual Red Cross contribution during the past four years when he resided outside of the United States. A veteran of the Spanish-American (Please Turn to Page 2)

Several firemen and a tenant in one of the houses, Rector Brown, were overcome by smoke and were taken to a hospital for treatment. A hospital physician and two nurses set up a first aid station in a nearby store.

The origin of the fire was not immediately determined.

8 ABOVE ZERO
ARENDTSTVILLE

The mercury dropped to four above at Arendtsville and eight above in Gettysburg this morning, the coldest in several weeks.

The local area fared no worse than practically the entire state where freezing weather nipped at several sections.

The anticipated heavy fall of snow faded Wednesday but weather observers predicted the cold wave that struck here Wednesday night.

Spreads Over State

(By The Associated Press)

A record-shattering cold wave spread over Pennsylvania today.

The mercury plummeted to one below zero in the Pittsburgh suburbs, the first time it has been below the zero mark in March there since the weather bureau began keeping records 72 years ago. The previous low was one above on March 17, 1900.

A 55-year record toppled at Philadelphia, where it was seven above. At Harrisburg, an 8 above reading smashed the March 4 record of 13, set in 1938.

The cold, moving in from the west on the heels of a one-to-six inch snow, sent the mercury below zero in many sections and although some moderation was predicted for today, freezing weather was expected to continue.

18 Below at Kane

Western Pennsylvania appeared to be the coldest part of the state. It was 18 below at Kane, 16 below at St. Marys, 10 below at Brookville and Ridgway, 9 below at Vandergift, 8 below at Sutersville, Warren and Clarion, 6 below at Blairsville, and 4 below at Mercer and Parkers Landing. Pittsburgh proper reported five above.

Across the state, Hazleton shivered in one below weather and Scranton reported zero. However, a majority of eastern Pennsylvania cities reported between 5 and 10 above.

Richard Bouldridge, 40, burned to death in a fire that swept his Philadelphia home. Thirty persons were made homeless by a general alarm fire that roared through five dwellings in the downtown section of York at midnight.

A serious shortage of coal was reported by some dealers in Philadelphia. Seventeen of 44 yards in the industrial northeast section of the city said their supplies of domestic sales were exhausted.

be a revision of some of the present provincial boundaries in order to adjust some existing inequalities. Many unbiased experts also contend that a large number of the princely states, of which there are some 562, would have to be wiped out and reformed into provinces.

These states, which are ruled over by Maharajas and lesser potentates, present one of the larger problems involved in the establishment of a federal government. The bigger states—Hyderabad, Baroda and Bikaner, for instance—fit into the new picture very well. But scores of the rest are merely glorified country estates—far too small to make suitable units in a reconstructed India. They would merely be barnacles on the ship of state.

This would create an uncomfortable position for the British government, especially since these states are largely sovereign, insofar as concerns internal affairs. Britain has treaty obligations of long standing to consider. However, many students of the situation point out that these treaties were made long ago and are due for drastic revision.

Many Untouchables

The elimination of some of these tiny princely states also the 60,000,000 Hindu untouchables who are condemned by the caste system to live as pariahs by their fellows must be considered.

These unfortunate people, who in language, face and figure vary not one whit from their countrymen, are outcasts. They are denied the right to live inside any of the 700,000 villages of India, but must build their little mud hovels outside.

There is a growing feeling in India that the only cure for this terrible evil is to create a new state for the untouchables and collect them into this from all over the country. This state would take its place in the free India. It might easily be built out of some of the tiny principalities which now exist.

Serious Problem

The units in the new national set-up would be given a large degree of autonomy. The federal link would be fairly slender, at least in the beginning, and would comprise such general items as defense, communications and foreign affairs.

It probably would take some years to create a new constitution and establish the national government. In this the Indians would need, and would have, the assistance and guidance of the British government. The British maintain that for them to desert India abruptly would result in utter chaos, and I found a large degree of agreement with that even among Indians.

The above is the general idea on which many serious minds are working in India. The difficulties of such a program are recognized, but none of these seems unsurmountable. Obviously the only way to find out whether the plan is feasible is to try it.

TRUCKS CRASH;
$1,000 DAMAGE

Damage estimated at $1,000 resulted when two trucks collided on icy roads a mile and a half north of Hampton about 4:30 o'clock, Wednesday morning. One operator, John Carbaugh, 29, Pleasant street, New Oxford, was treated at the Hanover hospital for contusions of the chest, lacerations of the head and puncture wound of the right forearm.

The mishap, which was not reported to state motor police here until about noon, Wednesday, occurred on a hillside after a truck operated by S. H. Shaffer, 28, Millerstown R. 1, developed motor trouble and stopped on the slippery highway. As Shaffer stepped from the cab the rear of his vehicle was struck by Carbaugh's vehicle, a coal truck owned by a New Oxford coal dealer, police said.

The truck Shaffer drove was being operated for the D and W Fruit Exchange at 38 Stevens street, Gettysburg.

Private J. A. Treas of the Gettysburg detail of the state motor police investigated the accident. No charges were brought.

war and the Philippine insurrection, Mr. Springer says the Red Cross has always been the soldier's "best friend."

The Student Christian association will direct the War Fund drive among the faculty, the student body and organizations on the Gettysburg college campus. The college and seminary have never failed to fully support the county Red Cross drives.

Many former Gettysburg residents who have lived away from here for a number of years are annual supporters of the county chapter. Almost each day, one or more contributions are coming from this source.

The subscription lists that have come in are conclusive evidence that most people realize that this is a War Fund drive and not an annual roll call. The War Fund quota is several times the amount usually required to be raised by the annual roll call during normal times. The one dollar membership of normal times must be augmented by additional dollars if the drive is to "go over the top."

Campaign workers report practically no refusals. This demonstrates that Adams countians view the Red Cross as the organization of the American people and that participation is everyone's opportunity to do a job at the fighting fronts that Americans are maintaining all over the world.

District leaders are getting set for a greater effort during the remainder of the week. They still hope the county drive may be successfully concluded within a week. This objective was lent impetus when it was learned this morning that Carlisle has given itself four days to raise a much larger sum.

Adams county is the first county of the state. The idea is to make it the first county to completely raise its quota.

BOOK DRIVE IS
"OVER THE TOP"

With 700 "excellent books of the high quality specially sought this year" already on hand the Adams county USO organization discovered suddenly this morning that it has exceeded its state-assigned quota which has just been revised from an original 1,300 to 600.

Dean W. E. Tilberg, USO chairman for the county, was notified that because of the emphasis that has been placed in the drive this year on the quality of the books that a general revision of all county quotas has been made throughout the state.

The local packing committees have the 700 volumes ready for shipment as soon as instructions on their destination are received. Dean Tilberg said he expects at least another 100 books will be received here by the end of the week.

Gettysburg-Mechanicsburg Title Game At Shippensburg To Start At 7:45

STEWART LOOMS AS BIG THREAT TO MAROON "5"

Coach George Forney's Gettysburg high school basketball team will go after their third straight Southern Pennsylvania Interscholastic league championship Friday evening when they meet Mechanicsburg high on the Shippensburg State Teachers' college court.

Prof. Guile W. Lefever announced this morning that it has been agreed to start the game at 7:45 o'clock in order to allow Mechanicsburg fans to make bus connections to and from the game.

The Maroons won the title honors in the southern division by sweeping through a six-game schedule unbeaten. Mechanicsburg clinched the northern division title by duplicating the locals' record.

From all aspects the game looms as a real thriller. Coach Forney's fads lost but one game this season, that a 31-29 reverse at the hands of Delone high. Mechanicsburg has also lost but one tilt, a one-point decision to Harrisburg Catholic.

Downed Tilters
Perhaps the outstanding victory achieved this year by Coach Johnny Fredericks' Mechanicsburg quintet was that over William Penn high of Harrisburg in a game played at Mechanicsburg. William Penn, leaders of the Central Pennsylvania loop, will represent that circuit in the District 3 playoffs.

Against mutual opponents this year Mechanicsburg and Gettysburg have nearly identical records. Both defeated Hanover high twice. Mechanicsburg split even in two games with Harrisburg Catholic, the defeat being sustained on the Crusader's court. The Forney-men whipped Harrisburg Catholic here last Saturday in impressive style.

Stewart Old Foe
Foremost in the Mechanicsburg lineup is an old Maroon playoff rival, Jeb Stewart, six-foot, six-inch center. During the 1940-41 and 1941-42 seasons, Stewart was a member of the Chambersburg high quintet who were the strongest rivals of the Maroons for league honors. Last year the locals whipped Stewart and his Trojans for the league title in a playoff at Carlisle.

While Stewart has been head and shoulders above his team-mates both in physical stature and scoring he has been ably assisted by Sylvester Sadler, forward. They will be the lads the Maroons must halt if they hope to gain victory.

Rounding out the starting lineup for Mechanicsburg will be Dixon, forward; Keet and Rupp, guards.

Playoff Vets
Two of the Maroon players have had considerable experience in playoff games. Ross Sachs, ace guard, has performed on both of Gettysburg's recent league and district championships and George Fair, forward, was a member of the 1942 champions.

Coach Forney is expected to use his regular lineup which will include Fair and Bobby March, forwards; George Boehner, center, and Sachs and either Don Wickerham or Jimmy Spahr at guards. In the reserve group will be Ogden, Moser, Utech, Fissel, Kitzmiller and Culp.

The Shippensburg court is about the same length as the Maroon court while it is a trifle wider.

Can Seat 1,000
Approximately 1,000 fans can be seated. The bleachers are similar also to those in the local gymnasium.

Bill Doremus and Everett Morgan have been selected to handle the game.

Doors to the gymnasium will open at 7 o'clock.

Harris Beats Lawer On Snappy Finish

Pittsburgh, March 4 (AP)—It took five rounds for Ossie (Bulldog) Harris, 160, Pittsburgh negro, to warm up Tuesday night. Then he uncorked such an assortment of uppercuts, left jabs and right hooks that he had no trouble in winning a ten-round decision from Johnny Lawer, 156, of Cleveland.

Jackie Armitage, 144, New Kensington slugger, thumped out a technical knockout over Ray Ferris, 146, of Pittsburgh in the second round of their six rounder.

Joe Shirey, 178, Pittsburgh, knocked out Tommy Zanos, 190, Millvale policeman, in two rounds and Ted Phillips, 143, Pittsburgh, beat Russ Leasure, 141, New Castle, in four.

Penn State Cagers Cancel Two Games

State College, Pa., March 4 (AP)—Penn State's basketball team, 65-28 winner over Carnegie Tech last night for its 14th triumph in 18 games, will finish its season here Saturday against powerful Georgetown university.

The Nittany Lions were scheduled to play at Colgate and Syracuse next week, but the games were cancelled yesterday. Syracuse reported its roster depleted by losses to the armed forces and Colgate then agreed to call off its game to save the Lions a journey into New York state.

Pre-Flight Quint Plays Here Tonight

Coach "Hen" Bream's Gettysburg college dribblers will seek their eighth victory of the season tonight when the P. and M. Pre-Flight quintet will be met in the Plank gymnasium.

At 6:45 o'clock the Bullet jayvees will clash with the Lutheran Theological seminary outfit.

The varsity game will get underway promptly at 8:15 in order to allow the first half to be completed before the scheduled blackout drill which starts at 8:50. The second half will be played following the all-clear which is listed for 9:30.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, March 4 (AP)—Gus

Welch, the old Carlisle football star now a coach at Georgetown Prep, has come up with a plan for "mass production" boxing in high schools under government supervision.

We figure the schools can do their own job of supervising pretty well, but there's no doubt that school boxing—and wrestling—could do with a little encouragement.

The Army and Navy can tell you about the value of these sports in teaching a kid to take care of himself when he has to fight.

The drawback always has been that too many parents confused boxing with professional fighting. There's a difference that anyone can see this week-end when they hold the Eastern Intercollegiate tournament at Syracuse.

The only person who ever appears hurt is the referee—when some fan can't wait for the end of the round to start cheering.

SHORT SPORT STORY

When Coach Johnny Barovich of Columbus, Montana, high school heard of the Smith mine disaster at Bear Creek, he left his basketball team flat and donned a miner's hard hat to go to work with the rescue crew.

His father, Sam, is one of the 72 miners still entombed. Johnny is a brother of Nick Barovich, Utah's sophomore center.

SERVICE DEPT.

Capt. Jay Vessels, who used to supply this column with the hot sports news from Minneapolis, is public relations officer at the air field in Tunisia from which the American planes took off to blast Rommel's troops out of Kasserine Pass.

Robert L. Glass, who used to lug the pigskin for Tulane, has just been commissioned a Marine lieutenant at Quantico, Virginia.

Charley Wagner, ex-Boston Red Sox flinger, is another recent arrival at the Norfolk Naval Training station and may be on deck when the tars open the baseball season against the Washington Senators April 1.

Army orders generally don't have anything to do with sports triumphs, but after the Fort Sheridan, Illinois, basketball team knocked off Camp Grant, someone managed to award the coach recognition in listing him as officer of the day.

The memorandum put his middle name in capitals this way: "Lt. Dee WINNETT Pinneo."

THE BIG DRIP

(Headline: Allentown, Pa., police use tear gas to quell basketball riot.) The basketball fans were whooping it up.

And the referee turned quite pale. When in came the cops armed with tear gas bombs.

And threatened to fling them in jail. With tears in their eyes and hate in their hearts.

The wolves continued to howl. But the losing team's coach, with a moan of despair, merely reached for his crying towel.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Bill Reddy, Syracuse, New York, Post-Standard: "The Army already has moved in on football at Syracuse university. The roomy quarters formerly occupied by Coach Ossie Solem and his assistants have become 'war college' headquarters. Ossie has moved to a smaller room next door. If your mind runs that way, it could be called symbolic."

Be a soldier on the home front. Help the 1943 Red Cross War Fund.

JOCKEY SNARES FOUR WINNERS FOR 7TH TIME

By SID FEDER

New York, March 4 (AP)—There is probably no other jockey in the business who makes such a habit of booting home four winners on single afternoons as little Stevie Brooks has done during his brief career, but it shouldn't come as any eyebrow-raising surprise.

If ever a kid had the "bringing up" to be a handy man with the oat-burners, little Stevie is your guy. He's been around them so long they probably smile and say "howdy, chum, what's cookin'?" when he passes by.

As a matter of fact, the baby-face from Nebraska was born in 1921 in a covered wagon in McCook county out that way. That's how far back he goes with the gee-gees. And his pop was a horse and cattle trader, and from the time Stevie was able to set up a bellow for his milk, he rode the covered wagon from farm to farm with his folks.

On top of that, he had an uncle who owned a racing stable. That's where he got his start some five years back.

Started in 1938
So it would have been more of a surprise if he didn't turn out to be quite a guy aboard a horse. Yet, even with his background, little Stevie has come a long way in a hurry since he rode his first winner back in '38. When he kicked four of them home first yesterday at New Orleans, it marked the seventh time in two years he had turned the trick.

Unless you're thoroughly familiar with racing, you probably don't know little Stevie from Mr. Five by Five. He rarely gets to ride the "hot" horses in the big stakes, and for the past couple of years he's stayed pretty much around Chicago and Kentucky, after breaking in at plants like the Nebraska county fairs and Shreveport, the old Louisiana track, and Havana.

But around the mid-west he's noted as somewhat better than a green hand. For the past two seasons, he's been the riding champ of the five Chicago district tracks.

Last year, with 189 winners and $236,541 in purses, he was among the nation's top ten saddle artists.

Yes, sir, little Stevie may not talk the horses' "language," but it's obvious he doesn't need an interpreter to translate for him.

More Sports Seen As War's Result

Spokane, Wash., March 4 (AP)—The end of the war will bring America the biggest competitive sports program the nation has ever seen, believes Col. Ted Bank, chief of the athletic and recreational branch of the War department, and former University of Idaho football coach.

Soldiers here and abroad are benefitting from a sports program "so large in some respects it defies comprehension," he said in an interview.

Predicting expanding sports schedules in "a long period of so-called occupation" of enemy countries, he added:

"When the kids finally do come back, they'll be keenly conscious of comparative sports."

AFTERNOON BOUTS?
New York, March 4 (AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs is toying with the idea of staging afternoon outdoor shows this summer at the Yankee Stadium and Polo Grounds.

One of the afternoon bouts may bring together Willie Pep, recognized in New York as featherweight champion, and Beau Jack, who has the New York commission blessing as lightweight king.

Help the Red Cross, so it can help our boys in the armed forces.

Ford City Gains Cage Semi-Finals

Pittsburgh, March 4 (AP)—Ford City won the right to meet Ambridge in the semi-finals of the WPIAL Class A basketball tournament next Tuesday by eliminating Brentwood, 36 to 24, at Pitt stadium last night.

Paced by center Bob Holley, Ford City established a 15-6 lead in the first half and held a comfortable margin the remainder of the game. Holley, with 12 points, was high individual scorer.

In a preliminary game Sharpsburg defeated Etna, 21 to 16, for the Section 18 title in Class B. Sharpsburg and Glassport will clash Saturday night in a first-round playoff.

Greensburg met Monessen in a Class A quarter-final game tonight at Pitt stadium, the winner to play Duquesne in the semi-finals March 10. Clark is pitted against Clayville in Class B elimination game preliminary to the Greensburg-Monessen battle.

Senesky Likely To Set Cage Record

Philadelphia, March 4 (AP)—Blonde George Senesky, St. Joseph's college basketball star, scored 36 more points last night to move within three points of the generally recognized one-season individual scoring record in so-called "big league" college basketball.

Senesky boosted his total to 506 points in 21 games as St. Joseph's beat Bowling Field, a Washington service team, 58-39. He has one game to go—against Temple Saturday—to meet the 509-point mark set in 22 games in 1940 by Rhode Island State's Stutz Modzelewski.

New Pitt Coach Explains System

Pittsburgh, March 4 (AP)—Clark Shaughnessy, new head football coach at Pitt, held his first meeting yesterday with 45 aspirants for the 1943 varsity eleven.

Eight of the group were newcomers and the remainder varsity or freshman performers last autumn. Shaughnessy briefly explained his famous "T" formation style of play and dismissed the boys without setting a date for another session. On the Pitt campus, belief was expressed that usual spring practice would be abandoned in favor of mid-summer drills.

The Lincoln school basketball team suffered its second loss of the season against five wins Wednesday afternoon by dropping a 24-23 decision to the Gettysburg high school freshman class team.

An Evening Thought

Suffering itself does less afflict the senses than the apprehension of suffering.—Quintilian.

Just Folks
By Edgar A. Guest

CRANKMIRE'S COUNSEL

Said Old Crankmire with a chuckle: "Let all selfish bickering cease.

If at home we've got to quarrel, let us war till we're at peace. We're at war—and it's a tough one! If you're aching for a scrap, Don't start fighting with your neighbors, go and battle with the Jap.

"Every ounce of strength is needed; every bit of sense we've got; Every minute now is precious. Time is powder, shell and shot. And until the Jap cries 'Uncle' and his love for conquest shelves Let us fight the war for freedom, and not fight among ourselves.

"Oh, you may not like your neighbor and you may not like your boss, But our soldiers are waiting for the tanks to get across. And our soldiers are waiting for the planes and ships and guns. So, if you're a trouble-maker go and make it for the Huns."

DETERMINATION

Determination is one of the most valuable of all traits in the development of character. But the objective of this determination is what marks its value.

A man may determine to do something sure to degrade him or to lead to vast unhappiness and harm to others, or he may determine upon a course that may lead him to nothing of permanent value.

I am reminded of a story that I read many years ago by A. E. Coppard, the English writer. The title of this story—a very fine one—was "Fine Feathers" and told of the ambition of a boy who determined to own a full dress suit. He saved and struggled, and was obsessed by everyone about him who took advantage of his good nature. Finally he had an opportunity to wear that dress suit that he had worked so hard to earn—but only to wear it as a waiter at the marriage of the girl for whom his heart had long grown restless. When he got home he threw the suit to the floor, stamped upon it, and exclaimed, "I might just as well have been born a fool!"

The late Admiral Peary, as a boy, read all about the adventures of those who had tried to discover the North Pole. His imagination was stirred. He determined that some day he would become an explorer and that he would try to gain what no man up to that time had ever achieved. For nearly 30 years he made attempt after attempt—until finally he gained his goal, and planted the Stars and Stripes at that northern spot. He once wrote this writer that he alone, however, could not have achieved this objective, but that he owed most to those whom he called his "iron men." Determination had won the victory.

A great engineer, Blon J. Arnold, once told me that he owed his great success to the fact that when he determined upon a certain task he wished for its culmination so strongly that "it hurt."

Perhaps the greatest factor in the life of Abraham Lincoln was his determination to be somebody. He read every book that his hands could find. He made friends. He failed over and over in many a determined task. But he never gave up. He kept growing. To his patient determination that the union of States should forever remain undissolved, the world owes to him a great debt of gratitude, for in the end it will mean the liberation as well of a world and a new freedom to all nations.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Inspired Moments."

Lewis Predicts Increase In Pay In Anthracite Area

MINERS' WAGE GROUP DRAFTS PAY DEMANDS

Scranton, Pa., March 4 (AP)—The anthracite wage policy convention began formulating demands for a pay increase today after hearing John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, declare that the government "cannot maintain this paradoxical policy" of "fattening industry and starving labor."

Asserting that William L. Davis, chairman of the war labor board, and James Byrnes, director of economic stabilization, have prejudged the miners' impending wage demands, Lewis told the convention yesterday:

"The government, if it chooses, can change its anti-inflation policy or otherwise. I make no case for or against the right of the cost-plus millionaires to continue to loot the public purse. If that is what Congress and the government want, then I am helpless in the situation. But I do say to my government and yours that it cannot maintain this paradoxical policy. It cannot fatten industry and starve labor."

Attacks Davis, Byrnes
"I doubt that the mine workers would want me to plead their case before any court that has already rendered a decision," he said, "and that is the case with Mr. Davis of the war labor board. He has passed judgment without a hearing. And that is the case with Mr. James Byrnes x x x."

Discussing the wage subject, he said:

"Of course," Lewis said in matter-of-fact tones, "it will be up to the United Mine Workers to break new ground in American labor. It always has."

"It has always been the United Mine Workers that had to be in the forefront of economic battles x x x we are glad in this year of 1943 to give some of the boys a lift again. We know x x x it is patriotic and x x x in the interests of our flag and country."

Predicts Increase
"x x x I think the mine workers have a compelling case in equity. I think they will be able to prove that case x x x to a degree where we are going to have that wage increase for which you are going to declare."

Thirty-five convention resolutions had been introduced asking a $2 a day raise over wages which the U.S. Department of Labor said averaged $36.14 for a 36-hour week last December.

Some 23,000 of the 90,000 anthracite workers unsuccessfully sought such an increase last January in a wildcat strike which ended on President Roosevelt's order. The miners' current contract expires April 30 and negotiations are about to begin.

Seek $10,000 For Tobacco Promotion

Harrisburg, March 4 (AP)—Reps. Baker Royer and Harry E. Trout, Lancaster county Republicans, have introduced a bill in the House calling for a $10,000 appropriation to "advance the tobacco interests of the commonwealth."

The money would be appropriated to the Pennsylvania State college "for the purpose of advancing the interests of tobacco growers with a view of improving existing types of tobacco and shade grown wrappers and other nicotine bearing plants; of overcoming diseases, perfecting processes for curing, fermentation, sweating and packing tobacco."

Charles Hare, near Seven Stars, have gone to Illinois, where they have secured employment.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lady, Gettysburg, Route 6, announce the birth of a daughter, Evelyn Eleanor, on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Martz moved on Thursday from 300 West Middle street to the property at 141 East Water street recently purchased by Mr. Martz.

Claude Myers, of Littlestown, has accepted a position in the barber shop of H. B. Sefton, Baltimore street.

Flashes of Life

HONEST MAN

Philadelphia (AP)—Temple university's honor system among students has met the acid test.

A senior found a one-pound can of coffee in a vacant classroom and turned it over to the lost and found department.

A classmate who reclaimed it commented, "no grounds for complaint."

EARLY; GETS NO BIRD

Albuquerque, N. M. (AP)—Dr. M. K. Wylder (CQ) reached his patient's house with misgiving—he was six hours late.

"Thank goodness!" a woman's voice greeted him. "I've found a doctor who can come the day I telephone!"

THEY MAY WANT TO MOVE

San Quentin, Calif. (AP)—A new rumor had some of the 300 prison inmates worried.

The big state institution has been doing lots of war work, but Warden Clinton T. Duffy eased the prisoners' minds with a definite statement in his newspaper column:

"No one will be frozen at a job in this institution."

WELL, NEXT TIME—

Grants Pass, Ore. (AP)—The little log church at Merlin burned down; the village's volunteer fire department was a bit late.

The firemen were all busy at a meeting learning methods of fire control.

Hunterstown

Hunterstown—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fleming and Miss Mary Watson have returned to Baltimore where they are employed after spending several days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fleming, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Watson.

Miss Doris Watson, Hanover R. D., has returned to her home after spending the past week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Best, Wilmington, Delaware, spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Clair Tate.

Miss Mary Jane Taughinbaugh, Waynesboro, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neely Taughinbaugh.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Uzela, Hagerstown, spent Monday with the latter's mother, Mrs. Margaret Matthew.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Walker and family, of Tuneytown, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Walker, Hanover, visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Englebert, Sunday.

Guldens

Guldens—A daughter, Mary Ann, was born Monday, February 22, to Mr. and Mrs. Luther Shaffer.

PFC Robert Kettell, Carlisle Barracks, recently spent a furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kettell, last week.

The condition of Ellis Herman, who was discharged from the Warner hospital Saturday, is reported satisfactory.

Mrs. Katie Fidler, Silver Spring, Maryland, spent the week-end at her home here.

Four From State Navy Casualties

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Four Pennsylvanians were among 47 casualties, including one dead, 15 wounded and 31 missing, in a Navy department casualty list released today.

This brings to 24,008 the total of Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard casualties reported to next of kin since Dec. 7, 1941. The total includes 6,703 dead, 4,554 wounded and 12,751 missing.

The Pennsylvanians, and their next of kin, are:

Robert George Bartley, wounded. Mother, Mrs. Anna May Bartley, Pittsburgh.

Marine Alfred F. Hozempa, missing. Mother, Mrs. Anna Hozempa, Edwarsville.

Vincent Philip Kuleski, missing. Parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kuleski, Phoenixville.

Lieut. William Oliver Park, USNJ, missing. Wife, Mrs. Betty Jane Park, Philadelphia.

fined to her home by illness. The Misses Margaret and Lilla Otto, Baltimore, have been spending a few days at their home near here.

48-HOUR WEEK WILL REQUIRE MANY CHANGES

Cleveland, March 4 (AP)—The Federal Reserve bank of Cleveland said today in its monthly business review application of the 48-hour week order to Pittsburgh and other western Pennsylvania cities would necessitate many adjustments.

The report listed Aliquippa, Erie, New Castle, Pittsburgh and Washington as areas of labor stringency or those anticipating a labor shortage within six months. It stated:

"Since these cities include the major steel-producing centers of the district, and since this industry's continuous operations have been geared to a 40-hour week, many adjustments will be necessary to achieve the longer week."

Little change was reported in the district's business activity for January and the first three weeks of February.

A survey of population changes showed a decrease of 71,000 persons in 19 western Pennsylvania counties

Aviation Cadet Schools Approved

Washington, March 4 (AP)—These Pennsylvania colleges have been approved by the War department for participation in the Aviation Cadet training program:

Allegheny college, Meadville; Bucknell Junior college, Wilkes-Barre; Dickinson college, Carlisle; St. Vincent college, Latrobe; University of Pittsburgh; Lafayette college, Easton; Albright, Reading; during a two-year period ending May 1, 1942. The entire fourth Federal Reserve district, including western Pennsylvania, Ohio, eastern Kentucky and northern West Virginia, showed a drop of 85,000 during the period.

The review said flat glass manufacturers continue to operate at low levels. January production of plate glass amounted to less than five million square feet, compared with nine million last year and 19 million in January, 1941. Defense housing and other war uses have resulted in a more favorable market for window glass, with production in January at 72 per cent of industry capacity. Glass container manufacturers have been operating at near-capacity levels since late 1940.

REDS CHASING FLEEING NAZI ARMY AT RZHEV

Moscow, March 4 (AP)—The Russians said the Red Army continued today to pursue German forces which fled their defense citadel at Rzhev, and under appalling weather conditions Soviet troops plowed forward west and northwest of Kursk to heighten their menace to Orel, the hinge bastion between the central and southern fronts.

(The Berlin radio reported that Russian forces had made "local breaches" in the Axis positions on the flanks of the front around Orel, 200 miles south of Moscow.)

Besides endangering Orel, operations northwest of Kursk, 80 miles south of that city, pointed a spear toward Bryansk, which has been the Nazis' main supply base for central front operations.

The capture of Dmitriev-Lgovsky, announced in a special communique last night along with the capture of Rzhev and Lgov, placed the Red Army columns about 45 miles from the Bryansk railway through Konotop to Kiev, capital of the Ukraine.

Konotop, one of the German strongholds on the path to Kiev, already is threatened by a Russian advance which carried west of Sumy, 70 miles southeast of Konotop.

The Russian noon communique said that German counterattacks and attempts to set up new defense lines southwest of Rzhev were being smashed by Soviet troops, and that the Russian advance continued with the capture of 11 more towns.

The Russians declared that 2,000 German dead were counted after Rzhev fell.

Democrats Ready To Balk Pay Limit

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Democratic leaders appeared ready today to throw their weight against a measure, approved by the House Ways and Means committee, that would repeal President Roosevelt's wartime salary ceiling of $25,000 (after taxes) and permit salaries to stand at Pearl Harbor Day levels.

The opposition apparently was aimed principally not at the voiding of the President's salary ceiling but rather against the proposed Pearl Harbor Day limits. There was considerable objection among some members also to making the salary issue a rider to the measure raising the nation's debt limit.

The Ways and Means committee accused Mr. Roosevelt of acting contrary to the intent of Congress by setting the salary ceiling by executive order.

It recommended that Congress void the President's directive and itself set individual salary limitations as to Dec. 7, 1941, for persons making over $25,000, after taxes; and also that Congress provide that persons making less than $25,000 be permitted to receive "reasonable" increases.

Has Little To Say On FDR 4th Term

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Emma Guffey Miller, democratic committeewoman from Pennsylvania, had little to say about the possibility of a fourth term for President Roosevelt after she conferred with National Chairman Walker and other party leaders here.

"I understand there was some discussion of a candidate at the meeting," she commented, "but I didn't hear it. Of course, whenever democrats get together, they discuss the subject. I'll say this for myself, that if the war is not over by 1944 I am sure there is no one who can write the peace like Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Floods Cut Income Of Coal Company

Philadelphia, March 4 (AP)—Property damage by floods contributed to a decline in 1942 in the net income of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company, President Robert V. White said in an annual report.

The 1942 net was $1,762,320, or 92.9 cents per share, compared with $1,805,036, or 93.6 cents, in 1941, the report showed. Another contributing cause of the decrease, White said, was the speedy amortization of the cost of railroad freight cars bought to speed anthracite and cement shipments.

The company paid dividends aggregating 63 cents on 1,529,127 common shares during the year, and funded indebtedness of the company and subsidiaries was reduced by $704,200, to $29,216,800.

Production on the company's coal lands totaled 4,062,857 tons, an increase of 31,361 over 1941.

Boards Must Have Authorization To Draft Men With Dependent Children

WILL PROTECT RELATIONSHIP OF FAMILIES

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Correcting an earlier statement, Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the War Relocation Authority today said local draft boards are still under orders not to draft men with dependent children until they receive authorization from national Selective Service headquarters.

At his press conference Monday McNutt said he knew of no such restriction on the local boards and declared "quite a number" of fathers of children were being taken.

In a clarifying statement issued today, McNutt said the only men with children now being inducted are those whose dependency was acquired after Dec. 8, 1941, or at a time when draft selection was imminent.

Bona Fide Homes
"Those registrants having wives and children, or children only with whom they maintain a bona fide home, and who were married before Dec. 8, 1941, and at a time when selection was not imminent, may not be inducted through Selective Service until there is a direct authorization by national headquarters," McNutt's statement said.

The regulations have been designed, McNutt said, "to protect the bona fide family relationship as long as possible" to the extent that it is practicable to do this and still meet the requirements of the armed services for 10,000,000 men by this year and also supply the manpower needs in war industries.

However, after April 1 men who work in any of the "non-deferrable" occupations listed last month will have 30 days to transfer to essential jobs or to register with the U. S. Employment Service before being placed in Class 1-A.

May Call Fathers May 1
Informed official sources said yesterday it was a "reasonably good guess" that local boards in some areas will have to start drafting fathers on May 1; that is, as soon as they became available under the "non-deferrable" rule. Boards generally probably will be inducting fathers by early summer, these officials predicted.

"The recent non-deferrable order primarily indicated which men with families will have to be inducted first when men with families are called," McNutt explained.

In reclassifying men with dependents into 1-A, the boards will follow this procedure, McNutt said: First, the supply of single men

College Credits: Clothes Voted Likely To Succeed

No longer is Sloppy Sal the college girl's ideal. This year campus honors go to trim, practical, long-wearing clothes shorn of non-essentials, geared to the trend of the times, designed to last for the duration.

Newest notes in the starting line-up are: Little-boy knee pants and knickers, newer than slacks for Betty Coed; quilted dirndls of plaid or solid color cottons lined in outing flannel; wide-wale corduroy suits, separate skirts and boxy short coats; teddy-bear coats and seagoing pea-jackets, designed like Winston Churchill's.

Students of girls' schools feel that there's no use wasting glamor on a manless campus, and so save their dress-up clothes for week-ends. For classes they prefer rough-and-ready dirndls, the new long shorts in gray flannel or bright plaid, the perennial sweaters and skirts and pinafores of flannel or corduroy, worn over plaid lumberpack shirts.

Week-end trips to town call for a smart suit of gray flannel or bold plaid tweed, with a versatile top coat of camel's hair, fleece or the increasingly popular pile fabric known as teddy-bear cloth.

College girls will wear hats this fall—at least for week-ends. Top choices are the new wartime classic, the cloche, the small felt roller and the beret.

Long wool stockings in bright colors are required equipment for campus wear. This year class-rooms may not be so well-heated as of yore, and our sensible college girls intend to keep warm.

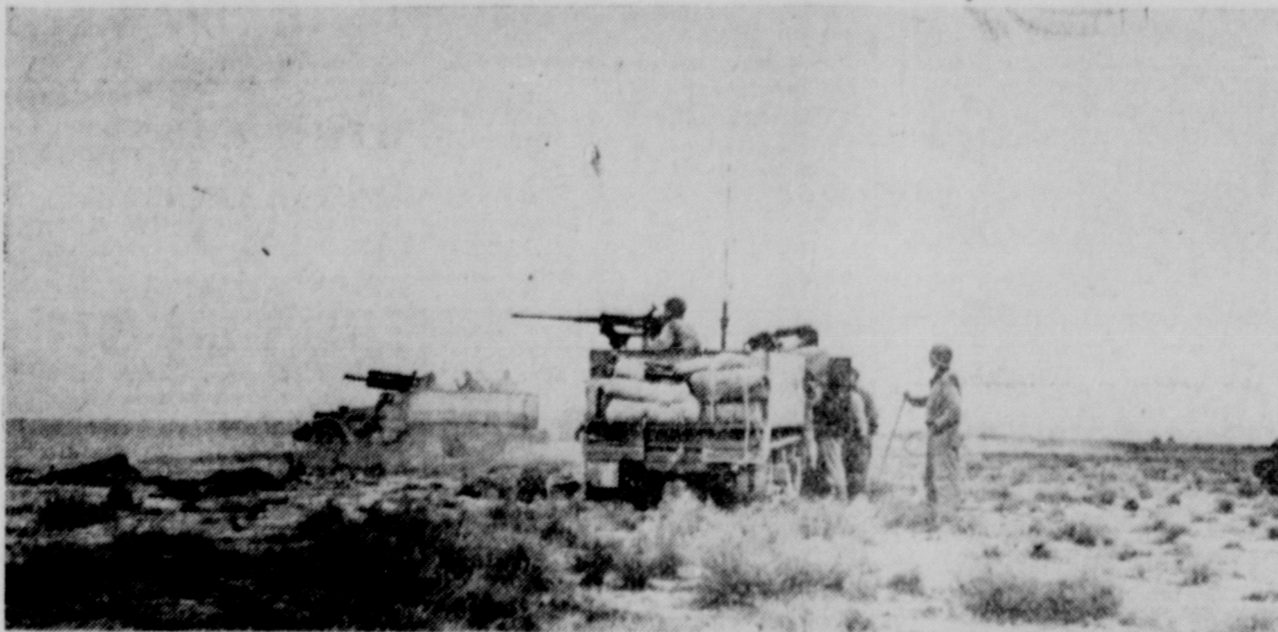

For the same reason they are including warm flannel pajamas and woolly bathrobes in their back-to-school outfits, and, as usual, stock-who are without dependents and who are not deferred as necessary in their occupations will be exhausted in a local board area.

Then the local board will review the classifications of the 3-A or 3-B registrants to determine which should be reclassified 1-A and which should be further deferred for occupational reasons or because induction would cause undue hardship on dependents.

McNutt pointed out that state directors have been instructed to adjust their calls to prevent one board from calling up deferred groups before a neighboring board does.

ing up on sweaters.

Flannel weskits in bright red or green, gay scarves in peasant squares, woolly ankle socks and matching mittens all rate extra college credits.

These are the wearable, practical but light-hearted clothes picked by today's college girl, who knows her values, has learned her new lesson of American thrift.

Seeks Release Of Pupils For Fishing

Albany, N. Y., March 3 (AP)—A meat shortage may have its advantages, believe young New York rod-and-reel fans, casting a hopeful eye at the state legislature.

Assemblyman Elisha T. Barrett has introduced a bill which would release pupils over 15 years of age from 30 days of school each year to do some commercial fishing.

WOMEN WILL HAVE FEWER CLOTHES, '43

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Fashion Editor

Clothes will be fewer, simpler and better in 1943.

Whether or not clothes rationing comes in this second year of war, American women must learn to get along with less, buy more carefully, make their clothes last.

All non-essentials have been pruned from the 1943 silhouette, which is slim, streamlined, geared to the tempo of the times.

Functionalism and quality are watchwords of the year.

This is the considered opinion of Mrs. Dorothy Anderson, executive director of the New York Dress Institute, the association of more than 800 dress manufacturers who supply the bulk of America's retail dress trade.

Charting the course of fashion in 1943, Mrs. Anderson says:

"Look for shorter jackets, slimmer skirts, quantities of buttons on your new spring clothes. Be prepared for a narrower range of colors, more staple, monotone prints, new developments in fabrics.

Use Nylon Fleece

"You will see more suits and dresses made of aralac and nylon jersey, more coats of nylon fleece. These last two fabrics are made from the nylon brushings that cannot be used for any other purpose, and science has made them into beautiful and durable fabrics.

"We can expect shortages not only of wool and silk, but also of cotton and rayon. Yet in the face of multiple problems, designers and manufacturers are meeting the challenge of the times, turning out beautiful and practical clothes for the best-dressed women in the world

—Americans."
Designers have gone beyond the WPB limitations imposed last Spring, when the "frozen silhouette" was the talk of the nation. Far from causing regimentation of fashion, the famous L-85 ruling has acted as a challenge to designers, who have produced in the last six months the best and most wearable collections since Paris handed the sceptre of style to America.

In the coming year we may find that our dresses are buttoned instead of zipped, we probably will get acquainted with new synthetics, we may even find our clothes rationed—but we can depend on American designers to keep us the best-dressed nation on earth.

Philadelphia, March 4 (AP)—Sam Abrams, 35, is in jail on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses from a soldier's mother. Police said he got $25 from Mrs. Mary Keosayan by telling her that her son, Cecil, stationed at Camp Wheeler, Ga., needed funds.

TEACHERS' PAY
BOOST SOUGHT
BEFORE BUDGET

Harrisburg, March 4 (AP)—An increase in salaries of school teachers before the Legislature acts on Governor Martin's proposed $41,000,000 tax reduction was asked today by Senator John F. Cox (D-Allegheny).

"I am heartily in favor of the Governor's desire to decrease the tax load," Senator Cox said, "but I believe before such a cut can be made the financial emergency embarrassing the teachers of Pennsylvania must be relieved."

He asked the Senate education committee to name a sub-committee to confer with the Department of Public Instruction "for the purpose of recommending to the Legislature the manner and extent in which increased compensation can be given to teachers."

Must Find Funds

Governor Martin included no recommendation in his 1943-45 budget for boosting teacher pay and said if the Legislature took any action in this direction it would have to find the money. Cox and Senator Weldon B. Heyburn, Republican leader, agreed a salary increase for the more than 60,000 teachers would cost nearly $40,000,000.

"We're commencing to think about the matter," declared Heyburn after telling the Senate earlier in the week that if a pay boost is granted "we'll have to raise new taxes." As a possible solution, he pointed to a proposal of Senator Harry Shapiro (D-Phila) that the state motor fund surplus be tapped, since roadbuilding almost is discontinued.

Cox, for 13 years a teacher himself, declared "the only practical solution I see is for the Legislature to determine how much money it can use and establish a salary ceiling for teachers, then make it mandatory for the districts to increase compensation within that ceiling to an amount we determine." Funds would be appropriated to help distressed districts.

Cox said teacher salaries range from $1,000 to $8,000 annually and that 12,000 make less than $1,100 a year.

Rescue workers gather about the entrance to the Smith coal mine near Beatrice, Mont., where 72 men were trapped by an explosion and cave-in, and at least three were killed.

PAY-AS-YOU-GO
PLAN IN CANADA

Ottawa, March 4 (AP)—A "pay-as-you-go" income tax plan under which the government will forego 50 per cent of 1942 tax liability on individual earned incomes will form the cornerstone of Canada's fiscal structure for the year beginning April 1, budget proposals offered Tuesday by Finance Minister J. L. Isley to Parliament indicated.

Although Parliament will debate the proposals, rejection would be equivalent to a vote of non-confidence in the government, and no such move is expected.

The plan, similar to that proposed by Beardsley Ruml and others in the United States, is a second step to put Canadian finances on a current basis, since most Dominion taxpayers had already paid a large part of the tax on 1942 incomes as they were earned through the medium of a "Victory" tax on salaries and wages.

FALLS TO HIS DEATH

Philadelphia, March 4 (AP)—John W. Bergman, 46, of Bridgeton, N. J., a dock builder, fell to his death from a Delaware river dock Tuesday. A diver recovered the body. A fellow worker said "you couldn't tell if he got sick or dizzy or tripped."

MARTIN TALK
FINE AND FAIR

Harrisburg, March 4 (AP)—Praise from Republican legislative leaders and cautious comment from Democrats followed Governor Martin's budget proposal for a $147,000,000 cut in state operating costs and a $41,000,000 tax reduction in the two-year period starting June 1.

"A fine message, showing the soundness of the financial structure of Pennsylvania at this time," commented Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, House Republican leader.

But Rep. Reuben E. Cohen, Democratic leader, said the budget "will be put under careful scrutiny to determine whether there has been a proper reduction of taxes and whether the whole people will benefit therefrom."

Charles H. Eady, Republican president pro tempore of the Senate, declared "it is high time for those in authority to caution people that financial joy-riding must stop."

"It was a very fair presentation by the Governor of his views on the budget," Senator B. B. McGinnis,

Riddle Purchases
Mare And Surrey

Media, Pa., March 4 (AP)—Samuel D. Riddle, the owner of Man O'War, has a new horse—a little mare without a name.

The 33-year-old sportsman bought the animal and a $385 surrey because of the ban on pleasure motoring.

"I must admit," he said, "that when one travels a few miles in a surrey one does appreciate the springs of an automobile."

Democratic floor leader, said, adding tax reduction "is a very difficult question since future revenues are uncertain."

YESTERDAY: Jim, worried over Landa's knowledge of his affairs, investigates a wireless message Landa has sent, discovers it was a harmless message to her fiancé, Don O'Shanessey. That night an Axis submarine seeks out the ship.

Chapter 3

The next instant Landa was awake, the actual physical contact breaking her dream. She screamed with surprise and fright. Jim drew back hastily, color flooding his tanned face.

"I'm—sorry," he muttered.

She pulled herself into a sitting position, staring at him through the shadows of the room. "Jim Blair—is that you?"

"It's me all right," said Jim. "I was trying to wake you up. There's a submarine floating around someplace."

"A submarine!" Suddenly she listened. "What's the matter with the engines?"

"They turned them off." He patted her shoulder comfortingly. "Probably nothing to worry about. Ten to one it's miles away by this time. The Captain's just playing safe. Get up and dress and join the party. We're playing moonlight bridge."

She was trying hard to control her voice. "All right—Jim. Be right up."

It turned out to be not such a bad party. The tension of the small group huddled in the dining room lessened and the nervous titters gradually relaxed into only slightly hysterical laughter. Once, a sudden unfamiliar noise that might have been the whistling progress of a torpedo chilled them. Figures straightened in stiff strained waiting. Jim, feeling Landa trembling beside him on the leather bench, put his arm around her holding her close in comforting protection. But there was no impact.

At ten o'clock that morning the Rosa's engines started up again. The boat moved on. No one knew just what had happened—whether the sub had been sent to the bottom by the planes or whether it had been sighted in distant waters, but there was deep comfort in the familiar throb of the boat under way.

Landa said she wasn't sleepy. In her bright green sharkskin slacks and sweater she strolled the deck with Jim. The mist of the night still hung cool over the sea. The sun's heat was only pleasantly warm in the decks. They settled down in two deck chairs.

She looked off beyond the scaling rail of the ship across the sparkling blue of the southern waters. The brooding returned to her eyes. "You've been all over the world, haven't you?" she mused. "You've seen so many places, so many kinds of people, eaten so many strange foods—"

"Smelled so many odd smells," Jim lit their cigarettes. "So what?"

She shrugged. "I don't know. Three years ago I cried when Father sent me to California to school. I had never been farther than the mainland and didn't know why I ever should. But now—when I'm going back to my beloved San Roserio, I have begun to wonder if I'll ever go any place again."

"Oh, well, the world's pretty much the same all the way around," Jim drawled.

"Father used to tell me stories of Montana. He grew up there," she said. "After mother died, he met Uncle Mike, Don's father, on a hunting trip in Mexico, and later bought half his island and we went there to live. I was only five."

"You are a jungle baby, then."

"Oh, I went around some on my vacations. I've seen Los Angeles, and San Francisco and San Diego."

"But not Chicago or New Orleans or New York or Paris," he finished for her. "Well, you and your Don will have to get in some traveling before you die."

"Maybe we will," she mused smiling, "or maybe we'll just forget the world. That's what Uncle Mike said the island was for."

Jim lay there watching her lazily. The diamond blinked at him from her third finger. He wondered what this Don was like—if this marriage, evidently one of those family arrangements, would make her happy.

While she slept, the cultivated slip from her, leaving a guileless, trusting serenity on her piquant face. A strange feeling grew in Jim Blair, an impelling sense of protection and possession. He got up to walk briskly around the deck. God, he hadn't felt this way for years, not since he carried Amy Jackson's books home from high school, he chided himself with grim humor.

At four o'clock, the Captain knocked on his door. "We arrive at La Diaz in one hour," he beamed. "If you want to pack."

Landa was already on deck, pressed eagerly against the rail, one hand shading her eyes as she watched the dim approaching outline of San Roserio Island. She was the lady again, in a tailored silk suit with a wide straw hat shading her lovely face, but she was nervous and self-conscious.

"Do I look all right?" she asked Jim.

She chuckled. "His Spanish side might resent it," she admitted thoughtfully, "but his Irish side will welcome you with open arms. And

Income Tax

No. 53

When, Where, and How Taxes are to be Paid

Taxes due on a return filed for the calendar year 1942 may be paid in full at the time for the filing of the return on or before March 15, 1943. The tax may, at the option of the taxpayer, be paid in four equal installments instead of in a single payment, in which case the first installment is to be paid on or before March 15, the second on or before June 15, the third on or before September 15, and the fourth on or before December 15, 1943. If the taxpayer elects to pay his tax in four installments, each of the four installments must be equal in amount, but any installment may be paid, at the election of the taxpayer, prior to the time prescribed for its payment. If an installment is not paid in full on or before the date fixed for its payment, the whole amount of the tax remaining unpaid is required to be paid upon notice and demand from the collector.

The tax must be paid to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer's return is required to be filed—that is, to the collector for the district in which is located the taxpayer's legal residence or principal place of business, or if he has no legal residence or principal place of business in the United States, then to the collector of internal revenue at Baltimore, Md.

In the payment of taxes a fractional part of a cent is to be disregarded unless it amounts to one-half cent or more, in which case it shall be increased to 1 cent.

The tax due, if any, should be paid in cash at the collector's office, or by check or money order payable to "Collector of Internal Revenue." In the case of payment in cash, the taxpayer should in every instance require and the collector should furnish a receipt. In the case of payments made by check or money order, however, the canceled check or the money order receipt is usually a sufficient receipt.

NEW VETERANS' ORGANIZATION MAY BE FORMED

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Amid predictions that the millions of men now in the armed services would form their own organization and demand special legislative consideration after the war, the House Rules committee Wednesday mulled over proposals to coordinate jurisdiction over veterans' bills now vested in four different committees.

The Rules group failed to agree after hearings yesterday on whether to center control over pensions and other financial benefits in the committee on invalid pensions, which would become the committee on veterans' affairs, or in the committee on World War Veterans' legislation. Two other groups, Ways and Means and Pensions, also have dealt with veterans' proposals on some occasions.

Regardless of what action the Rules committee finally takes, one of its high-ranking Republican members, Rep. Michener of Michigan, predicted that veterans of the present war "are coming up here in mass and demand their own committee just as the veterans of the last war did."

Senator Rankin (D-Miss.) chairman of veterans' legislation, disputed this, contending veterans of the present war would join existing organizations, such as the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

10 Million New Vets
Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.) of the Rules committee had suggested that the existing organizations merge into one group for men who served in any war, regardless of whether they were wounded.

In contrast to the less than 5,000,000 veterans of the last war, another member pointed out, there will be in the neighborhood of 10,000,000 veterans of the present conflict "and they will form quite a pressure group if they organize, which they probably will do."

Chalfant Reports Higher Ore Yield

Harrisburg, March 4 (AP)—Rapidly mounting production of iron ore in Pennsylvania was reported Wednesday by Floyd Chalfant, secretary of Commerce, who said three operations have been revived to meet war-stimulated demands for iron and steel.

Noting output has "undeniably increased in the past two years," Chalfant said mines now are being operated in the Centre county barrens, near Bowmanstown in Carbon county and near Cornwall in Lebanon county.

"Although there is no possibility that Pennsylvania will ever regain the position she once held in the iron-mining industry of the United States," Chalfant declared, "there may be an opportunity it can achieve a higher yearly production than it attained during the height of its ore producing career."

Haircuts Go Up In Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, March 4 (AP)—The price of haircuts in most downtown barber shops jumped from 60 to 75 cents Wednesday.

Rene A. Mortelette, a vice president of the state Master Barbers, reported that independent barbers joined with members of the Associated Master Barbers of America in raising the price. Shaves remain at 35 cents.

Lack of experienced help and higher prices for supplies were the reasons, Mortelette said.

BIO-MINERAL FOR BETTER HEALTH!
MEDICAL SCIENCE for many centuries has believed in the curative properties of minerals. Now, as never before, doctors are stressing the importance of Minerals. The cry is: MINERALS!!! MINERALS!!! We are told that "WE ARE WHAT WE EAT" Foods lacking in minerals are often the cause of many ailments, such as: Teeth decaying, eyesight failing, nervousness, constipation, general run-down condition and the above mentioned diseases.

BIO-MINERAL is a rich solution of Natural, Life-Giving minerals. Pharmacists-chemists do not make it. It comes from the depths of the earth, Nature's laboratory. Is not Mineral Oil, physis or drug... but a group of highly concentrated minerals—the same minerals of the famous springs—the oldest and most reliable remedy for Rheumatism, Arthritis, Stomach and Kidney disorders, recommended by doctors, hospitals, sanatoriums, naturalists and specialists.

BIO-MINERAL is NOT Mineral Oil, physis or drug. Contains NO alcohol, NO harmful drugs, NO dope, NO oil... NOT a SINGLE habit forming ingredient. It works in your intestines, neutralizing, throwing away waste material, gas, toxins and bloating. Not like physis, oils and cathartics do... but in a natural, harmless, painless way—doing a real "house-cleaning."

With Your Own Eyes! See and Believe!
IF YOU SUFFER occasional constipation and other common stomach disorders, watch your elimination from your bowels after taking BIO-MINERAL. In 2 or 3 days, the waste, black as coal and hard as rock may break from the walls of the colon, and you will see it in the stool. It is almost unbelievable that such waste could be in your intestines UNTIL YOU SEE IT!

After 3 DAYS examine your urine. You may see small pieces of white stone, threads and crystal-like matter, which should not be in your system—POISONS—coming out, relieving you! These poisons, collecting there probably for years, like rust in an old iron pipe, were weakening your kidneys and ruining your digestive system.

WE ASK YOU to try BIO-MINERAL to SEE with your own eyes!... the relief you get from your ailments. You may UPROOT and drive them OUT of your system. Regardless of how long you have been suffering. It takes only 3 days to prove it. To SEE—NOT to guess the results. BIO-MINERAL is easy to take and safe for delicate organisms. Diluted in water, is like drinking rich mineral water from a mountain spring—Life-Giving Water. Try it! It is marvelous.

BIO-MINERAL—SPECIAL OFFER!
2 BOTTLES $1.85 - 3 BOTTLES $2.75 - 1 BOTTLE $1.00
GUARANTEE WE WILL REFUND YOUR MONEY IN FULL IF YOU ARE NOT SATISFIED AFTER TRYING BIO-MINERAL FIVE DAYS
